

Source-side memory remains separated after state matching

